Seminar arranged by the Lund University Urban Arena:

Advancing Sustainable Cities - Implementing Agenda 2030

1 DECEMBER 2016, AT 10:00 - 12:00
LOCATION: MALMÖ LIVE, DAG HAMMARSKJÖLDS TORG 4, MALMÖ

The seminar will explore interlinkages between Agenda 2030 and the realisation of sustainable cities. The event will present some of the latest research, knowledge and experiences on sustainable cities, identify key challenges and needs of future research and is open for anyone interested in the topic, regardless of profession or workplace.

We look forward to seeing you at the seminar!

PROGRAMME

10:00 Introduction and Welcome
Lena Neij, Coordinator, Lund University Urban Arena

10:10 Implementing Agenda 2030 from the viewpoint of cities
Monika Zimmerman, Deputy Secretary General, ICLEI World Secretariat

10:30 Implementing Agenda 2030 from the viewpoint of research
James Evans, Professor in Geography at the University of Manchester, UK, and Guest Professor at the IIIEE at Lund University, Sweden

10:50 Implementing Agenda 2030 - Visions and challenges from the perspective of Lund University researchers

- Urban Sharing: Prof. Oksana Mont, Lund University
- Public Space: Prof. Eric Clark, Lund University
- Daylight in the Dense City: Assoc. Prof. Marie-Claude Dubois, Lund University
- Collaborative Governance: Assoc. Prof. Dalia Mukhtar-Landgren, Lund University

11:30 - 12:00 Panel Discussion: Advancing Sustainable Cities - Implementing Agenda 2030

REGISTRATION: The seminar is open for all conference participants regardless of profession or workplace. If you wish to register for the Sustainable City Development Conference you will find more information here

Lund University Urban Arena is an interdisciplinary network of researchers working at Lund University. The network brings together almost 200 researchers from across Lund University faculties, centres and departments. It covers ecological, social and economic aspects of the research area.

See www.urban.lu.se or http://www.urban.lu.se/english/

LUND UNIVERSITY